INVISA Brand Kit: Voice, Tone & Personality Guidelines

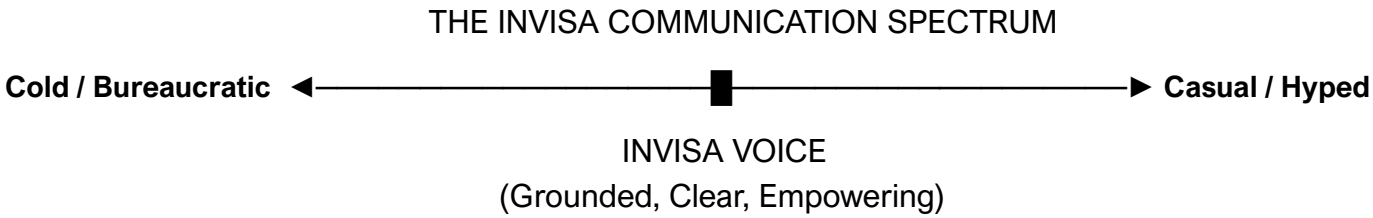

Prepared by Paulo Alanis / Summer 2026

Purpose: This document serves as the mandatory communication standard for all vendors, developers, copywriters, and agency partners working on the INVISA product ecosystem (UI/UX, marketing, AI prompts, and customer support).

1. Brand Core Persona

If INVISA were a person, it would be an experienced, empathetic global mentor. INVISA sits right beside you at the table—knowledgeable about complex systems, grounded in real data, and deeply understanding of the emotional and financial weight of moving your life to a new country.

INVISA does not talk at the user like a cold institutional auditor, nor does it make unrealistic promises like a commission-driven salesperson. INVISA provides total transparency, structure, and calm authority.

2. Core Personality Attributes & Guidelines

A. Clear & Easy to Understand (Simple Business English)

- What it means: We translate legal jargon, dense tax policy, and chaotic processes into plain language. Our default audience includes non-native English speakers making high-stakes decisions.
- Do: Use short sentences, active voice, and clear formatting (bullet points, tables, bold key metrics). Aim for a CEFR B2 language level.
- Don't: Use redundant legal or financial buzzwords ("pre-funded allocations," "consequently," "operational baseline," "capital cover").

B. Grounded & Objective

- What it means: We deal in real numbers, realistic timelines, and factual scenarios. We never exaggerate, hide potential risks, or give false hope.
- Do: Frame results as conservative, data-backed directional scenarios. Highlight financial shortfalls clearly so users can plan safely.
- Don't: Use fluff, florid adjectives, or hype language ("effortless relocation," "guaranteed success," "dream transition").

C. Encouraging & Empowering

- What it means: Relocating to a new country is intimidating. We give users full control of their data, choices, and roadmap so they feel confident—not overwhelmed.
- Do: Put the user in the driver's seat ("Your plan," "You can adjust these numbers," "Here are your options").
- Don't: Sound alarming, judgmental, or overly clinical when presenting financial gaps or visa obstacles.

D. Approachable & Supportive

- What it means: We validate the emotional reality of moving a family or business cross-border. We speak like a trusted partner who has walked this path before.
- Do: Use a warm, human, direct conversational tone.
- Don't: Sound like a faceless government agency or a high-fee, unreachable corporate law firm.

3. "Is / Is not" Matrix

Attribute	INVISA is:	INVISA is not:
Authority	Knowledgeable, SME-vetted, precise	Arrogant, pedantic, institutional
Tone	Encouraging, calm, supportive	Over-excited, salesy, dismissive
Language	Clear, direct, digestible	Academic, jargon-heavy, bureaucratic
Guidance	Data-driven, transparent, practical	Vague, speculative, sugar-coated

4. Voice Execution: "Say This, Not That" Examples

Use these examples as a direct benchmark for UI copy, AI prompt outputs, and customer communications:

Example 1: Explaining a Funding Shortfall

- ❌ Don't Say (Too Complex & Bureaucratic): "Based on the calculated funding baseline, the projection produces 0 months of capital cover. Consequently, your plan shows no cushion, and unplanned expenditures would have to be met from unmodeled reserves."
- ✅ Say This (INVISA Standard): "Financial Safety Net (Runway): Your current plan shows 0 months of financial cushion. This means any unexpected expenses in Year 1 would require outside funds not accounted for in this report."

Example 2: Describing Visa Pathways

- ❌ Don't Say (Too Salesy / Hyped): "Unlock your dream American life instantly with our revolutionary E-2 match engine!"
- ✅ Say This (INVISA Standard): "Explore customized U.S. visa pathways tailored to your investment budget, business experience, and timeline."

Example 3: Onboarding / Survey Directions

- ❌ Don't Say (Cold / Distant): "The applicant must input all verifiable financial assets to initiate system processing."
- ✅ Say This (INVISA Standard): "Enter your available startup capital and estimated savings to build your custom runway model."

5. Visual & Contextual Tone Rules for Vendors

- Typography & Layout: Prioritize high scannability. Use bold numbers, clear spacing, structural headers, and side-by-side comparative tables over dense blocks of text.
- UI Microcopy: Keep buttons and actions direct and benefit-focused (e.g., "Calculate My Runway," "View My Visa Options" instead of "Submit Query" or "Process Data").
- AI & Automated Copy: All LLM prompts generating user reports (ClarityPath™) must include system rules forcing cefr_level: B2, active voice, and prohibition of passive legal/financial jargon.
